

Police pact irks commissioners

By JOE CHAREST

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners took affirmative action on a police contract between the Sheriff's Road Patrol and the City of Romulus, but they weren't happy with the way Romulus officials have treated the matter.

The focal point of their ire was Romulus Police Chief Jacob Koch, who is not intended to be a part of the police package, which will transfer the nine-member city force to county control as soon as the contract is signed.

The commissioners claim that Koch, who is a retired 25-year Detroit Police veteran and has been Romulus Chief for six years, had given his word at a committee meeting last week to sign a waiver releasing the county of any obligation to hire him.

The chief, however, apparently had a change of mind a day before final approval was expected from the county.

The county, furthermore, feels that since Koch serves at the pleasure of the mayor, the mayor should have taken steps to remove the chief from his job before the matter reached the full board Tuesday.

"The mayor (Hyle J. Carmichael) knows that the chief is the only thing standing in the way of this contract," said Law Enforcement Committee Chairman Eugene A. Sikora (D-7th Dist.). "He says he wants the contract, but he hasn't done anything about the problem."

Sikora, who reported that the committee recommended signing the contract, stood firmly against inclusion of the chief in any agreement.

The commissioners were additionally upset by the fact that, after the contract is signed, Koch may have legal grounds for a court suit aimed at obtaining a county job. The Sheriff's Department structure has no provisions for the transfer of a man in Koch's present position. Some commissioners fear that Koch may be able to obtain a court decision forcing them to hire him to a high administrative position, thereby possibly depriving one of the county's own career officers a step up.

Koch himself, along with the city's legal counsel, Peter O'Rourke and Council President Jimmie Raspberry, was present at the session to answer questions from the commissioners.

He explained that although he had agreed last week to sign a waiver of rights, he had had second thoughts about it since then and now would refuse to do so.

"I feel I should be given the same opportunity that my men have been given," Koch said. He added that he thought there was a position for him somewhere in the county structure. O'Rourke pointed out that Carmichael would not immediately fire Koch because that would leave the force without a leader until the county took over. Commissioners seemed to think this was not a valid reason, since even the Detroit Police Department had operated without a commissioner for short periods.

The County Prosecutor had no opinion as to whether a court suit by Koch would be successful. He said that although he thought that the county would win such a suit, he would not say for sure, since he hadn't prepared a written opinion.

Action expected on referendum

By HENRY CANTIN

Formal action by the Romulus City Council on petitions requesting a referendum vote on the recently approved Zoning Ordinance and Master Plan is expected this week.

The petitions for the referendum ballot were filed with City Clerk Leonard J. Folmar Friday, June 25. They contained 513 signers, more than the required 445.

A citizens group initiated the referendum drive in protest to various changes made in the new zoning ordinance and master plan that in the opinion of the group were not in the best interest of the community as a whole.

The zoning ordinance was adopted by council on May 6. City clerk Folmar reported that the signatures on the petitions are currently being checked with the city's vote registration lists. When the check is completed the referendum request will be submitted to city council for consideration.

Opposition by the council is expected as City Attorney

John E. Young reported that the zoning ordinance is not subject to a referendum.

He supported his contention with a 1970 court ruling. Young said, "On Feb. 3, 1970, the Michigan Court of Appeals ruled that a city is not subject to a referendum on a zoning ordinance. This ruling was made in a case involving the City of Clawson."

The present referendum request marks the second time that Romulus residents have opposed a zoning ordinance approved by the council.

Last August, a previously approved master zoning ordinance was rejected by the voters by a 2 to 1 margin.

The plan provided for 500 acres of multiple zoning, which brought loud objections from some areas of the city. The new Zoning Ordinance reduced multiples to 80 acres and eliminated the expansion of a mobile home park on Van Born Rd., between Middlebelt and Inkster Rd.

A 26-member Citizens Advisory Committee was then formed with the consent and approval of the council to assist in drafting a new zoning ordinance.

The committee, which includes representatives from each voting precinct in the city, began to conduct polls throughout the community listing the likes and dislikes of the people.

Joint sessions were held with the Romulus Planning Commission.

Meeting changed

The Huron School District Board of Education will meet on July 12 instead on the regularly scheduled third Monday of the month. Byron K. Antcliff, school superintendent, has announced.

The change in the school board's meeting date for July is in accordance with state school law that requires school districts to hold their organizational session on or before the second Monday in July following the annual school election.

Muskie youth chairman meets senator and staff

Barry Baumann, 20, of Romulus, chairman of Youth for Muskie in Michigan, met last Wednesday with members of Senator Edmund Muskie's staff and eventually Senator Muskie at the Orchard Lake Schools.

Senator Muskie was a guest at the Founder's Day Dinner, a $100 a plate fund raising dinner held annually by the schools.

Before the senator arrived, Baumann reported his organization's activities thus far to the staff. Baumann also revealed plans for recruiting Youth in the Muskie group.

As the senator arrived, Baumann, along with school officials and members of his staff, escorted the senator through guests numbering close to 4,000.

REPAIRING SABOTAGE OF TELEPHONE CABLES — Emergency crews of the Michigan Bell Telephone repairing four telephone cables (two are shown) found sabotaged at South Wayne and Eureka roads. The cables lead into a substation. Phone service to 3,000 telephones on the 941 exchange were cut off over the weekend. The cables were cut and they and a telephone was set afire. The FBI, state police arson experts and local police agencies are investigating. Bell is offering a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible.

Romulus cables sabotaged; 3,000 left without telephones

The sabotage of four main telephone cables in the City of Romulus is under a joint investigation of the FBI, state police arson experts and local police agencies.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. cables, located near a substation at South Wayne and Eureka roads were cut at 12:30 a.m. last Friday. The cables and an adjoining telephone pole were set afire.

The sabotage cut off 3,000 phones in the 941 exchange. Minutes after the Romulus fire department extinguished the fire, company emergency crews were put into operation to repair the damage.

A Bell spokesman reported that telephone service was out of order for at least two days.

Police, fire and some governmental offices were put on emergency telephone hookups.

The FBI entered the investigation at the request of Bell since some federal government circuits were involved and affected by the sabotage.

The telephone company has offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible.

The company also inaugurated an anonymous tip plan through which informants may phone 313-872-4471 or mail a letter to P.O. Box 7149, North End Station, Detroit, 48202.

There were no immediate clues. Romulus Police Chief Jacob J. Koch and Wayne County Sheriff's deputies request that anyone who may have seen a car or persons in the area early last Friday morning to contact police.

Sheriff's deputies said that someone with an apparent knowledge of telephone systems sawed partially through the cables leading from the pole into a substation and that some sort of fuel had been poured on the cables and ignited.

Dan F. Smith, Michigan Bell vice president and Detroit-area general manager, said, "This was a senseless act of sabotage. We cannot tolerate such an act."

Local 4018 of the Communication Workers of America (AFL-CIO) began what company and union officials called a wildcat strike in Romulus and the downriver area last Tuesday.

Members of the same union walked out last Thursday in Wayne.

From 400 to 500 telephone workers in the Locals 4017 and 4018 staged a walkout in protest of what they called "poor communications" with the company and their union leadership and "unfair demotion" of one member.

Sheriff deputies reported that no evidence so far has been found linking the sabotage with the wildcat strike or labor troubles.

BAUMANN MEETS MUSKIE — Barry Baumann, of Romulus, chairman of the Youth for Muskie in Michigan met Senator Edmund Muskie when he arrived at the Orchard Lake Schools. Sen. Muskie was a guest at the Founder's Day Dinner, held annually by the schools. The senator smiles at the "Muskie for President (1972) button on Baumann's coat lapel. Sen Muskie jokingly said, "Don't let anybody see that," and said thanks for the hard work in his behalf. Looking on is an unidentified Muskie staff member.

Romulus gets new principal

The Romulus Board of Education has approved the appointment of a new principal at Romulus Senior High School, Robert L. McConeghy, school superintendent, announced Monday.

The high school's new principal whose appointment is effective immediately, is Joel B. Carr, 30, of Benton Harbor. He was selected from a list of 30 applicants.

Carr, who leaves the principalship at the Benton Harbor High School after one year, will replace Gerald A. Nault, 50, of 35070 Goddard Rd., Romulus.

Nault, who has been principal of the high school since October, 1968, submitted his resignation last April effective at the end of the 1970-71 school year. He asked to be transferred to a teaching or some other administrative post in the new school year. Nault has a tenure as a teacher in the school district.

The new principal is married. He and his wife, Lynn, are the parents of a three-year-old son. He also has served as principal of the Lake Shore High School in Stevensville, also in southwest Michigan, for two years after two years as assistant principal. He was also assistant principal director of the former University High School in Ann Arbor.

Carr has Bachelor of Arts (1963), Master of Arts (1964) and Education Specialist (1967) degrees from the University of Michigan, where he is currently working toward his Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Man pleads innocent to hit and run charges

T. Lane Davis 39, of 30129 Glenwood, Inkster, accused of hit-run charges by Romulus police, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before 34th District Court Judge James B. Stone.

The court released Davis on a $500 personal bond to await pre-trial examination on charges of leaving the scene of a property damaged accident.

Police Chief Jacob J. Koch reported that Davis is charged with striking the rear of a car being driven by Mrs. Maria Frandsen 11742 Ziegler, Taylor, who was making a left turn from the westbound lane of Eureka Rd. into Mesaway, Romulus, July 1.

Davis, police reported, allegedly turned, off his car lights and drove from the scene.

A witness to the accident followed Davis to his place of employment on Wahrman Rd., Romulus, and watched him go into the plant.

Romulus police officers Joseph Dolencic and Frank Zoltowski were dispatched to the plant. While they were checking over the defendant's car in the parking lot, Davis came out of the plant and inquired what they were doing.

Informed that the car was involved in an accident, Davis denied knowledge of the accident and stated that if the car was involved in the accident, it had been taken without his permission.

In Belleville

Drama classes available for all ages

A drama program sponsored by Van Buren Township is available for residents of the township and the City of Belleville, James Lightfoot, program director has announced.

The drama program is designed to cover all age groups in the township-city areas. Classes, held daily Monday through Friday, are available until Aug. 6.

Students age 10 to 12 years meet from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Registration fee is $2.

Students 12 through 15 years of age meet from 10 a.m. until noon. The fee is $3. High school students meet from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. The registration fee is $4.

Adults are presently meeting each night from 7 to 9 p.m. The registration fee is $5 per couple.

All classes are held at the Belleville High School Auditorium. Director Lightfoot is assisted by students David Salisbury and Gary Griffith.

The elementary group is studying the basic elements of acting and casting parts for "The Stone in the Head" by Leon Lukaszewski. The Junior group is experimenting improvisational theater and one act plays at present.

The high school group is doing characterizations, with opportunities for different types of roles.

The adult group is reading plays in preparation of selecting a play to be produced during the summer. It is planned that this group will continue through the year.

Grads offer thanks

Belleville Senior High School's 1971 graduates and their parents have extended thanks and appreciation to community members and organizations who assisted in making the first senior graduation party a "fabulous" success.

The united expressions of thanks were extended to area residents, school personnel, police departments of both the Township of Van Buren and the City of Belleville and area service organizations who donated their time and money in making the party a successful venture.

Sergeant goes to seminar

Jerry Cox of the Sumpter Township police department recently attended a bomb seminar.

The seminar consisted of demonstrations of explosives and their effects on automobiles.

Several color photographs will soon be on display for public viewing at the Township Hall, located at 22458 Sumpter Rd.

PLAN DRIVE — Sharing coffee and comparing notes on their progress in preparing for the 1971 Torch Drive residential campaign are Mrs. Malcolm Kahaian (left), of 434 Farmington Rd., Garden City, and Mrs. William Matthews, 368 Church St., Belleville. As region chairmen, both will enlist, train and assign hundreds of volunteers to conduct the house-to-house canvass. The 23rd annual United Foundation campaign will be held Oct. 12 through Nov. 4. It will benefit 164 health and community agencies in the Wayne-Oakland-Macomb area.

Verona Fathers plan annual mission festival

The Annual Verona Fathers Mission Festival will be held on the campus of the Verona Fathers Seminary, at 3500 Comboni Way, Monroe, on Sunday, July 18 from noon until 9 p.m.

A cafeteria style barbecued chicken dinner will be served from noon to 6 p.m. in the seminary gym. It will consist of a half barbecued chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy, vegetables, salad, relish, cream, and coffee or tea. Donation for the dinner is $2 for adults and $1.25 for children under twelve.

A variety of entertainment is planned to run continuously throughout the day. There will be game booths of skill, kiddie games for prizes, pony and wagon rides and helicopter rides. Refreshments, pizza, popcorn and hot dogs will also be available.

This year, the fathers will again devote their efforts toward the ever increasing maintenance cost of the Seminary.

The festival is sponsored by the Verona Mission Club and the Verona Fathers Ladies Auxiliary. Santo Bellestri is general chairman and Miss Shirley Noland is dinner chairman; Robert St. Pierre is program chairman and Frank Rossi is grounds chairman.

The Seminary, established in 1951, is the home of the Verona Fathers, a religious society of priests and brothers exclusively devoted to missionary work, particularly in Africa and Latin America. Officially known as Sons of the Sacred Heart, the Fathers take their name from their place of origin in Verona, Italy, where the Society was founded in 1867 by Bishop Daniel Comboni, known to his contemporaries as the Frances Xavier of Central Africa.

Verona Fathers Mission Seminary is located about three miles north of Monroe city limits, half-way between State Highway 25 (North Monroe) and the Toledo-

Detroit Expressway (Interstate 75). The easiest way to reach it is to follow Interstate 75 to the Nadeau Rd. exit, turn west on Nadeau Rd. Drive half a mile on Nadeau to the intersection of Comboni Way and...you are there, where the fun is.

Bring the family and your friends along, and plan to spend the day at the Verona Fathers Annual Mission Festival.

Scholarship winners announced at Williams

The recipients of the annual scholarship awards for piano and organ was announced by the Williams School of Music, 11140 Sterling, Romulus.

The winners of the piano scholarship were Virgil Smith, 16, and Nell Louise Walker, 12, both of Romulus Junior High School.

The organ scholarships were presented to Nancy Fuller, 14, seventh grade student at Huron Elementary School, New Boston; and Debra Ormansk, 15, of Romulus Junior High School.

Jean Ward Williams of the Williams School of Music, in announcing the scholarship winners, said that the award means free lessons from September to June next year.

She also announced that the school is now forming classes of three to study the "Czerny System" of learning piano and organ. The classes are of one hour duration.

Anti-pollution program could create jobs in area

A campaign designed to "Win Over Pollution" has been started as a joint effort of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, the Bureau of Social Aid and League for the Handicapped — Goodwill Industries to create public service jobs.

A Work Incentive Program (WIN), the new project will provide employment for 20 clients of the Bureau of Social Aid. Some of the clients have physical disabilities. They will be assigned to Goodwill Industries for a special program designed to recycle a variety of items which currently are community problems.

One phase will be to station several semi-trailers in various areas to collect bottles, newspapers, rags and clothing. Each trailer will be manned by one or more of the WIN clients to assist residents of each neighborhood load these items onto the trailer.

The trailers will be moved from location to location on a regular basis. It is planned to station them on school, church and community center parking lots, as well as at neighborhood shopping centers.

As the trailers are filled, they will be taken to a central location where other clients in the program will sort the material in preparation for the recycling process.

Belleville man receives B.A. degree

Charles T. Stabnau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stabnau, 12054 Belleville Rd., Belleville, has received a bachelor of arts degree from the College of Social Science, University of Michigan.

Stabnau received his degree at the spring term commencement exercises held June 13.

Glass will be sorted as to color and ground up for use in making new glass or paving materials; newspapers are used to make cardboard containers; rags are used for roofing materials while better grades of clothing are processed for resale in this Country or shipped overseas to foreign markets where many people cannot afford new materials.

The program will not only provide immediate employment for the Bureau of Social Aid clients involved but will give them the work experience needed to eventually move into private employment.

The trailers will carry a long banner on the side with the words "Win Over Pollution" in large letters. Locations where the trailers will be stationed will be publicized in advance.

The Gunter family reunion was held June 27, at the home of Mrs. Marcella Gunter and Miss Virginia Gunter on Sterling St.

More than 40 relatives attended from Sand Creek, Adrian, Clayton, West Unity, Ohio; North Carolina, Melvindale, Battle Creek, Westland and Romulus. A picnic pot luck dinner was enjoyed on the lawn.

Mr. and Mrs. David V. Genaw of Castle Dr. are the proud grandparents of two grandsons born recently. Gary David was born June 5 to Mr. and Mrs. Gary D. Genaw of Southgate and weighed 8 pounds. Alan Gordon was born to Mr. and Mrs. William C. Reinackel of Castle Dr. on June 16. He weighed 8 pounds, 12 ounces.

After a three-week visit in Romulus, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Snitz of Anaheim, Cal. flew home last week via the new American Airlines 747.

During their visit with her son, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kline and family of Cherry Ave., Romulus, the "newlyweds," both in their 70's were kept and well entertained by relatives.

The Snitzes attended a graduation party for Patsianne Murray in Romulus, enjoyed the last day picnic for grandson Glenn's Merriman Road School, visited friends in Detroit, Southfield and attended the wedding of a nephew which included a family reunion after not seeing many of the family members for 20 years, visited a grandson in Canada, and did other sightseeing.

The couple had the thrill of a first-time visit with their new granddaughter, Cheryl Ruth Kline, and of being guests of Senator Faust at a Testimonial Dinner in his honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Dykoski, recent newlyweds, were Monday evening visitors of her aunt and sister, Miss Pearl Morris, and Mrs. Mary Lou Fox, on S. Huron River Dr. The Dykoskis now reside on Ouer Dr. Detroit, having recently rented an apartment there. Mrs. Dykoski is the former Marie Diepenhorst.

Back home after an enjoyable fourday visit in California are Mr. and Mrs. Leon LeBlanc and daughter, Janice, of Hannan Rd.

The trio flew to California in the 747 luxury airliner and visited their niece and family, the Phillip DeLangises in Miralest, which is located in the Palos Verdes Estates, Cal.

Referendum action expected

Commission, followed by meetings with members of the council.

Robert Plank, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee and spokesman for the Citizens Group that initiated the campaign for the referendum, said the advisory committee was ignored in the final approval of the ordinance.

He added that the committee worked eight months on the new zoning ordinance and said the council made changes in the ordinance while in executive session and the committee was not told about them until the ordinance and zoning map was approved.

The citizens group asking for the referendum vote charged that the Citizens Advisory Committee was promised a local building code and a local subdivision control act would be adopted simultaneously with the zoning ordinance. To date they report this has not been done.

Other contentions of the group, according to Plank, are:

Multiple zonings have been granted by council in an area where the people are already upset with the over-abundance of multiples in the area.

Gas Stations zonings have been granted against the wishes of the citizens, while other zonings and text changes requested by the advisory committee have been denied.

Two zoning changes cited by the referendum supporters were made in executive session of the council Plank disclosed.

"The city council spot zoned a parcel of land in the southwest corner of Romulus for a gas station and another 10 acres in the southeast corner for multiples," Plank said.

Plank reported that he and the citizens group are willing to discuss their objections with council in the hopes of settling them.

He added that the citizens group is prepared to go to court if necessary.

As matters stand at edition time it appears that the zoning dispute may wind up in a court case.

Commissioners upset with Romulus officials

The commissioners had not sought such an opinion because they felt the problem would not arise.

Commissioner John N. Sabo, whose district includes Romulus, was against the contract for a different reason.

"I'm opposed to it because, once again, the little people are getting stepped on. The people themselves don't want it."

The Romulus police officers are against the contract and have a court suit ready against the city, charging that, by charter, Romulus must have a city police force.

Sabo cited the fact that when Romulus was still a township, the people had approved a proposition calling for establishment of a city force at the cost of 1½ mills per year.

That millage proposal was passed in 1968 for five years and doesn't expire until 1972.

The Prosecutor, however, did have an opinion on this matter. He said that the millage acceptance was no roadblock, having been superseded by Romulus' City Charter, adopted last year.

"When Romulus ceased to be a township, the efficacy of that proposal also ceased," the Prosecutor said. Taxes are now levied through Section 11 of the City Charter.

Several proposals were advanced by various commissioners as to the disposition of the contract. A motion to refer it back to committee pending action by Carmichael failed, and two amendments which would have held up final signing until the chief problem had been resolved or would have absolved the county of any responsibility to Koch, were abandoned.

JACOB J. KOCH

The contract was finally approved by a wide margin. It still includes the provision that the chief of police is not part of the agreement.

Romulus horseman wins titles

Frederick M. Hay, 19, of 14170 Huron River Dr., Romulus, top honors at the Ohio Buckeye Sweepstakes in Columbus.

Riding his purebred champion Arabian stallion, "Al Marah Kontiki", young Ray placed top in the Arabian Pleasure Horse class (Western gentleman to ride), in which some 50 entries from all parts of the country competed.

He also placed first in the Arabian Pleasure Horse class (owner to ride) of some 50 entries. He followed up by placing fourth in the Western Pleasure Champion Stake class.

He took a third in Arabian Pleasure Horse, Western Stallions in this Class A Horse Show, which was held on Memorial Day weekend.

Again, Hay was in the winner's circle at the 1971 Illinois Arabian Horse Show held (June 25-27) at Springfield.

In our opinion

It's wise to check spending records

Hamtramck is a small industrial community of 27,000 persons. It is distinctive for one reason.

As reported in Newsweek magazine, Hamtramck "... is now the most impoverished city in the nation ...". Its list of creditors is long. It owes a power company $200,000, a telephone company $23,000 and has a list of some 385 other local creditors.

The city has revenues of only $4.5 million. It has a debt of some $31.5 million, and "The city's budget is such a wreck that every it sips several hundred thousand dollars into the red, and municipal employees..." go without paychecks.

Local taxes are the highest allowed by the state. There is no money for welfare programs. Even essential city services are collapsing. The city council and the mayor have been threatened will jail terms if they don't start balancing the budget and paying off the city's bills.

Why is Hamtramck in such dire straights? The answer is simple.

According to Newsweek's report, the community has been "bled dry" by patronage and petty graft. A local editor says "... that everyone stood around the pork barrel taking things out, but no one remembered to put anything in."

With the vision of Hamtramck fresh in their minds, voters and taxpayers in other communities, and the nation at large, should take a second look at the spending records of their elected representatives at every level of government.

In years gone by...

A look through The Daily Eagle files at news of Western Wayne County one, 15 and 25 years ago:

25 YEARS AGO
July 7, 1946 — Worthy President James Chisholm heads the list of officers of the recently-formed Wayne-Nankin Aerie of Eagles, it was announced after a charter installation meeting of the aerie.

Bill Bidwell hurled a one hit ball game against the leagues' runner-up team, Birdwood Cleaners, and copped a 7-2 victory for the Northside Merchants, on the Cooley High school diamond in Detroit.

Bidwell's 13 strikeouts boosted his record to 81 strikeouts in the past six games he has pitched. Hitting stars at the plate for the Merchants were Bob Tooley, who had two singles and a double, and Hookey Cochrane, who connected with a long run-producing double. Special folding honors went to Loyd Solarz and Bob Zim. All-star man Denny Piscopink, also shone behind the plate again after his week's absence from the lineup.

A one-hit no run game was hurled against the Wayne Junior American Legion nine in Wyandotte when that team welcomed the locals with a 20-0 defeat.

Pat Esarey got Wayne's only hit, a single in the first inning. Rick Woodruff was the only other Wayne base runner. The contest, which was called in the seventh frame, saw John Shed go the distance on the mound for Wayne. Pitcher Guardian of Wyandotte was credited with the win.

Belleville's tax rate for the coming year will remain at 12 mills per thousand. That was the decision of the Council at its regular meeting. This act followed the presentation of the new assessment role by Assessor Orrin Post.

The assessment set the valuation at approximately $1,200,000, which represents an increase of close to $100,000 over last year's figure. In submitting his report, Mr. Post declared that a careful check had been made of all property with a particular emphasis on vacant lots where there has been some discrepancy in recent years.

15 YEARS AGO
July 7, 1956 — A budget for a grand total of $1,088,867.69 was adopted by the council for the Village of Wayne. It is the first time the budget has run over a million. Last year council passed a $901,107.18 budget.

Included in this year's figures is $85,000 which must be paid for tax anticipation notes which were sold earlier in the year. The money was spent for parking lots property and for the swimming pool, skating rink and other projects. Most of these expenditures will be reimbursed from bond revenues. This is the first time that the village has sued the tax anticipation notes.

As the American Leaguers were absorbing a 7-3 pasting from the senior circuit, the American Legion was planning an All-Star game of its own.

Three representatives were picked together with Glenn Ponte to take part in the all-star contest on August 10 at Manz field, located on Mack and Conner, the East Side of Detroit.

Each club is allowed three choices besides a pitcher if he is worthy. From Garden City, Evina, Balser and Kelczynski will make the trip as picked players and Ponte will undoubtedly get the call to trek to the mound.

Construction of a Howard Johnson's restaurant on Belleville Road at the expressway, to start within a month and be in operation by late winter or early spring of 1957, was announced. Roy Short, local realtor, reports the 88 seat restaurant will be much like those popular with localities in Dearborn and Ann Arbor, though somewhat more modern.

ONE YEAR AGO
July 7, 1970 — During a regular meeting, the Wayne

City Council continued discussion on the controversial proposal for a 268-unit apartment complex at Hickory Hollow, Van Born and Venoy Roads.

Besides concern over plans meeting newly upgraded city codes, the council must consider the social effects of opening a development in which up to 20 per cent of the residents would be eligible for rent subsidies from the federal government while other occupants would be required to pay full costs, according to City Manager Wallace G. Arrowsmith.

Mrs. Marguerette Cullity had a complaint to bring before the Westland City Council and though Mayor Eugene McKinney considers it relatively minor, he feels that Mrs. Cullity was in her rights to complain to the council.

Mrs. Cullity read a prepared letter containing 11 instances of alleged wrongs done against her and two other people by the Civil Service Commission at the city council meeting. She felt that the mayor's office was not giving her the swift action she felt entitled to, and brought it before Council.

William H. Loughran has been installed as president of the Canton Lions Club. He replaces Andrew Smith. Loughran and other officers for the ensuing year were installed in ceremonies at Vigo's Restaurant by Gene Henderson, Deputy District Governor of the Lions Club.

The Garden City Kiwanis Club will sponsor a series of monthly travel films beginning in September and running through April in the East High School auditorium. The color films, which will cover Australia, Poland, America, Belgium, Rome, the Bahamas, and Alaska will be professionally narrated.

The rules for the Miss Teen Inkster contest have been revised to include all girls (black or white) living in the area bounded by Michigan Ave., Henry Ruff, Cherry Hill and Beech-Daly.

It was previously announced that the contest would include girls living in the area bounded by Michigan Ave., Henry Ruff, Van Born and Beech-Daly.

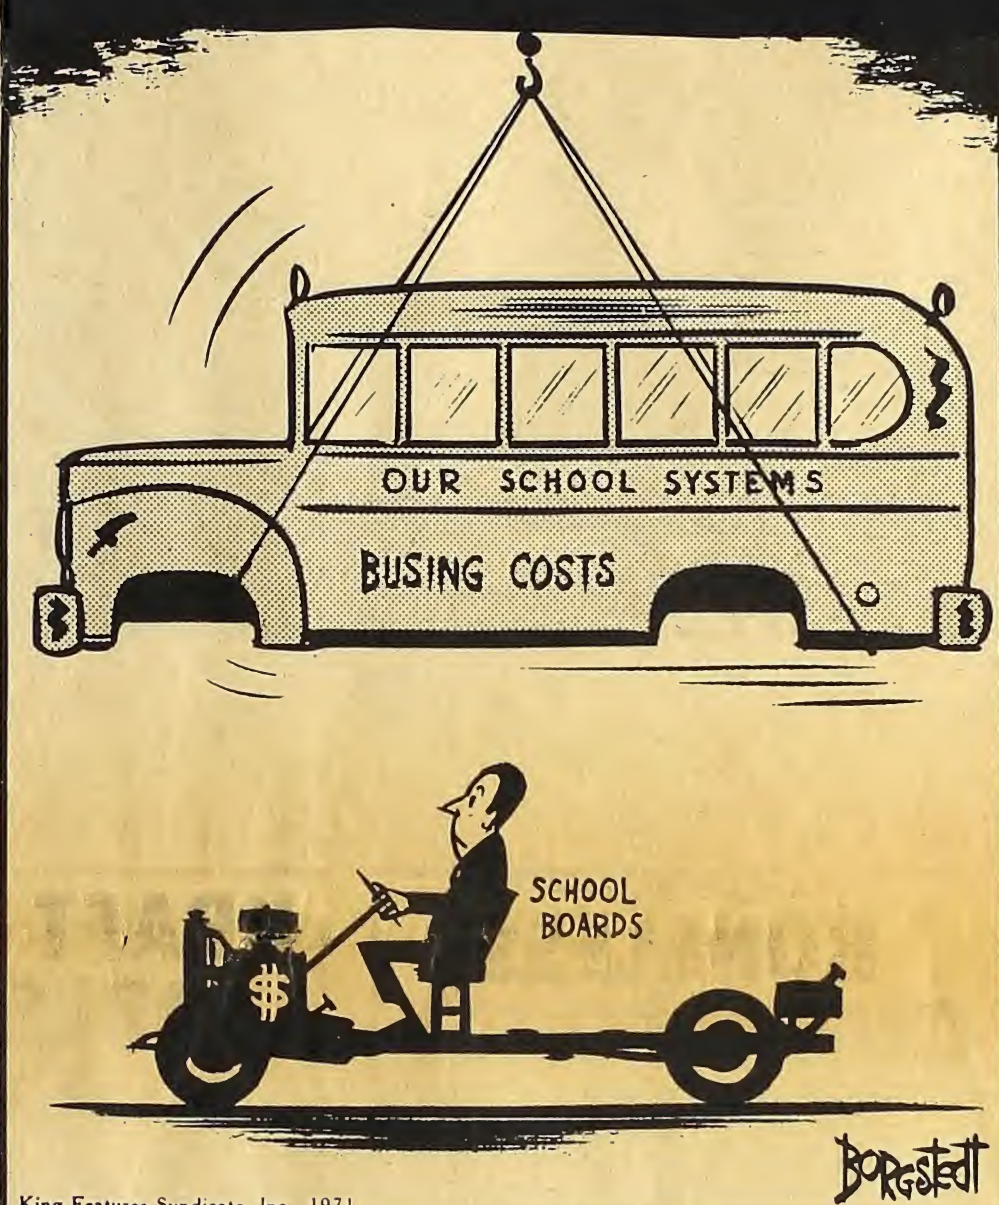

still has time to get the presents you ask for, you'd better write him now in July.

A "not secret" stamp for government officials to mark on official documents which no body but the printer will read anyway.

Something in metal from Ft. Knox. A right number from the telephone company. A pension from my draft board. A free tooth from my dentist.

An interesting new wonder drug. It's called money, is guaranteed to cure most cases of depression, and has no bad side effects.

Budget, revenue bills top legislative work

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

Both the House and Senate have, in the past week, cut down sharply on time spent in floor sessions in order to allow committees to work on bills.

The main push has been for the budget and revenue bills for the new fiscal year.

There has been, however, action on a number of bills on the House Floor. Included was approval of an emergency supplemental appropriation of some $23 million for the Department of Social Service.

A year ago, when the 1970-71 appropriation for the department was approved it was thought to be adequate to meet welfare needs for the year. There was, however, an unexpected increase in welfare costs due to the slump in the economy and other reasons.

At one time the department was taking in an additional 3,500 cases per month. This has since leveled off, but the overall increase in caseload has been staggering.

Senate would require retailers who sell beer and soft drinks in returnable bottles to redeem the bottles. There have been numerous complaints of stores that are refusing to redeem deposit bottles. The consumer buys his beverages in returnable bottles, pays the deposit, then finds out the same store will not redeem the containers.

One of the purposes of the bill is to provide an easy, simple way to encourage the use of returnable bottles. The non-returnable bottles and cans have become a serious litter and pollution problem.

The bill covers only those beverages sold for off-premise consumption and requires the retailer only to redeem bottles of the same brand that he sells.

Also approved in the House is a measure which would permit unemployment compensation checks to be mailed to unemployed workers. It was felt that there is no good reason why the worker, who is off the job through no fault of his own, should have to go to the unemployment office and often wait for considerable time to obtain the check he is legally entitled to receive.

My House-approved bill to license and regulate refuse and garbage management systems recently was reported out by the Senate Commerce Committee. This puts it in line for Senate debate and vote.

This bill would give us better controls over the collection, hauling and disposal of solid wastes. This has become an increasingly serious problem, particularly in our urban areas.

What Milliken would like at this point is a public outpouring of pressure on the legislature to at least get something moving besides the hands on the legislative clock.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers, Inc., a division of Panax Corporation of East Lansing, welcomes letters from our readers. Letters must include signature and address, which will be withheld from publication if requested. Letters also should be typed double-spaced or written clearly and should not exceed 300 words. All are subject to condensation.

Names cannot make, change men, things

To the editor:

Names neither make nor change men and things. Men make, change or give names. A man does not become a doctor by being called a doctor. A doctor is called doctor because he is a doctor.

Acts reads, "But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me". In another place it says, "And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy".

Only the men and the women who have the Holy Spirit are divinely authorized witnesses for Jehovah no matter what the rest are called. Only by having the Holy Spirit can they have the facts which are to be presented in testimony relative to "I am's" gift of His Son to propitiate for man's sin.

The witnesses' regular assembly, or the place of such assembly, is generally called church; although some prefer to call it by any one of numerous other names meaning the same thing; their general meeting and their place of the general, or regular, meeting.

Santa Claus in July?

Merry Christmas!

What's this-Santa Claus in July?

Well, why not? Only old fogies and spoilsports want to cramp the jolly yuletide season.

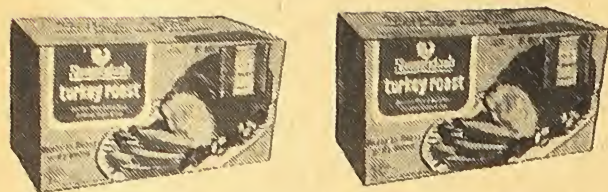

It used to start soon after we caught our breath after celebrating Thanksgiving Day. Now Thanksgiving and Pilgrim fathers are only footnotes to the swelling pageantry of Christmas, which is becoming a year long industry.

The wise shopper if he didn't buy all his Christmas presents at the Washington Birthday sales last February-will be able to get plenty of last-minute bargains over the Fourth of July holiday week-end.

So if you want to be sure old Santa reads your letter and

Huron committee to meet Monday

The first meeting of the Huron Schools 1971 Citizens Advisory Committee was held last Tuesday evening. Appointed by the Huron Board of Education, this group of citizens has been asked to study the long range physical needs of the district and report their recommendations Jan. 1.

General discussion was held as to the need for this study, methods to proceed and resources for information. A second meeting has been scheduled for next Monday at 7 p.m. at Hannan Road Elementary School.

Named temporary chairman, Felix F. Rogalle, conducted the meeting, assisted by Joanne Elliott, acting as secretary. An election of officers was scheduled for the next meeting.

Other committee members are: Mr. and Mrs. Phil Baschal, Mr. and Mrs. James Cook, Bob Detlor, Ralph Dugan, Mrs. Loretta Glenn, Mrs. Betty Griz, Charles Grover, Les Higgins, Wayne Mavael, John McKinney, Ray Miller, Joanne Mittlestat, Vern Moore, Dick Ortnor, John Puskar, Ruth Sutter and Jim Tillotson.

CHIEF RED BIRD — Cherokee Indian, is appearing every Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Tot Lot at Metropolitan Beach along Lake St. Clair near Mt. Clemens. Chief Red Bird, who resides in Hazel Park, retells many stories to the children, discusses his costume and demonstrates the "tom tom."

Morgan horses competing at fair

Michigan's 19th All-Morgan Horse Show, featuring nearly 300 of the finest park and pleasure Morgan Horses, will be held in the Michigan State Fair Coliseum, Detroit, July 10 and 11.

Prize money and trophies totaling $5,500 will be distributed over 84 classes with nearly 500 participants aged three to over sixty years competing. Entries will come from a dozen states and Canada.

For this spectacular show, Governor William G. Milliken has proclaimed July 10 and 11 as "Justin Morgan Horse Days in Michigan." Mayor Roman S. Gribbs named the week of the show as "Morgan Horse Week" in Detroit.

Show times are at 8 a.m. 1 p.m., and 6 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday. There is no admission charge.

"With both youngsters and parents able to participate, horse shows have become increasingly popular," said Robert Driggs, of Mason, president of the Justin Morgan Horse Association.

"The Morgan Horse is the most versatile of all breeds, and at the Morgan Show people can see these horses in every type of competition including English, western, fine harness and in hand," Driggs added.

Known as the classic horse of the show ring, the Morgan breed was originated in this country in 1789 by Justin Morgan, a Vermont school teacher-farmer, from whom the breed derives its name.

The Van Buren Public School District will again make available the high school swimming pool for community use.

However, due to the recent millage defeat the swimming program must become self-supporting.

Registration for swimming lessons will be on Monday, from noon until 4 p.m. at the Belleville High School pool.

The swimming classes to be taught include beginners, advanced beginners, swimmers and junior and senior life saving.

The program will run for a six-week period with classes being held every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The cost per student will be $10 for the six-week period. Family swimming will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m.

Anchor Block, Spearman are victims

Upsets hit contenders

With Anchor Block suffering two unexpected setbacks last week, and Spearman's Fine Foods having its problems, Morgan Manor widened its edge in the Romulus Softball League.

Manor's is presently 12-1 on the season, two full-games up on second place Spearman's, which is 10-3 while Anchor's is 9-3.

Anchor Block Co. fell off the pace suffering two upsets as Cue Corners turned the trick, 2 to 1. Then Five Points Bar overturned Anchor, 8 to 6.

Cue Corners escaped a tense bases-loaded seventh inning when, with two outs, Rich Rakotz hit a line drive straight to the second baseman to end the game.

Cue scored first in the third inning when Gary Rubbard walked went to third on Norm McLennon's single and scored on Ken Armstrong's sacrifice fly.

Anchor tied the game in the fifth when Jack Slater and Larry Rafalski singled—Slater moved to third on a double play and scored on Les Pennington's single. The Corners won the game in the sixth when McLennon tripled to right center and Armstrong delivered again with a game winning single.

Meanwhile, Morgan Manor continued to toll towards the league title overpowering Alden Electric 24 to 6 and slipping past Romulus Refugees 8 to 6. Morgan collected 27 hits against Alden, including home runs from Joe Kusibab and Jim Darnell.

Chris Campbell and Alex Cszasz were perfect at the plate with three hits in three tries.

Joe Flint allowed Alden 8 hits in gaining the victory.

Joe Kusibab was the hitting star again in the Refugees game getting two home runs in his three hits in leading Morgans 12 hit attack. Ray Dugan was the winning pitcher.

Romulus Progressive pulled off two upsets beating Spearman's Fine Foods 7 to 1 Thursday and Theodore Limousine 4 to 1 on Tuesday.

Against Spearman's Progressive opened with five runs in the first inning when John Sterling, Walt Drewno and Bill Reiber singled, Fred Eberline and Ron Dick doubled and Mike Sprau singled in the final run of the frame.

Bill Reiber homered in the third and Mike Sprau tripled in the sixth, scoring on Al Ellis's single to account for Progressive scoring plays.

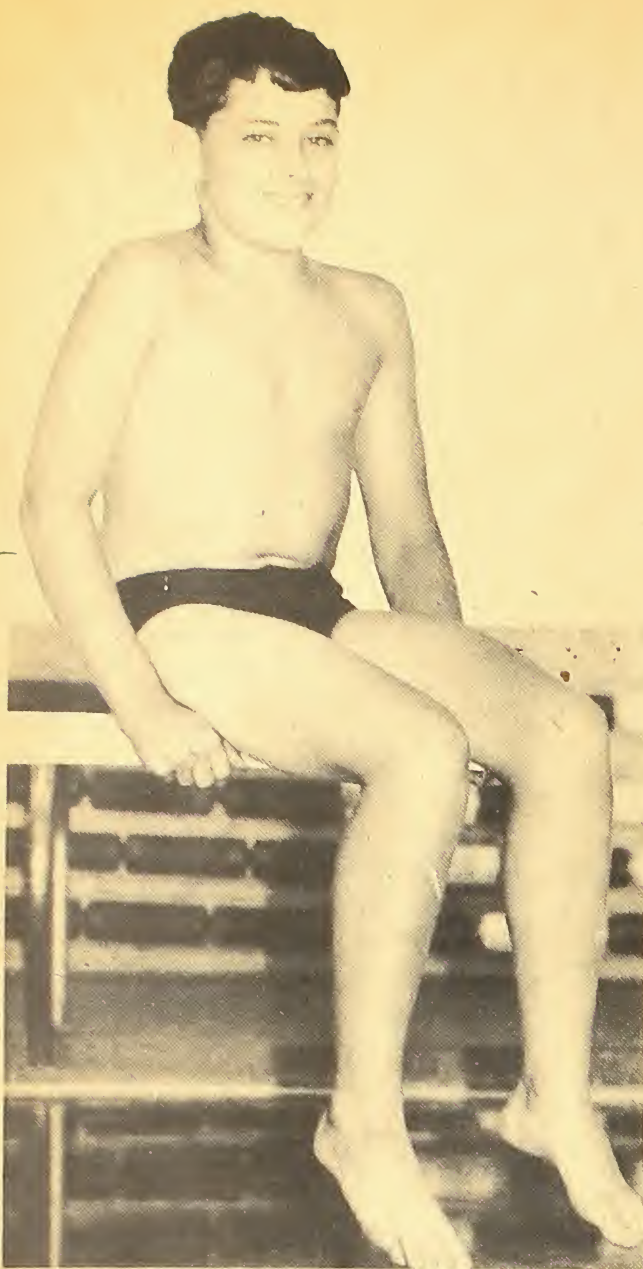

Spearman's could get no more than one base-runner on in any inning but the second when they scored their lone run on singles from Rich Spearman, Paul Tryon and Dan Lagasse. Bob Maronen limited Spearman's to five hits while Progressive gathered 16 off of loser Goralski and relief man Soave.

Theodore drew first blood when starting pitcher Carlington tripled and scored on Highland's single in the bottom of the third. Progressive scored four times on two hits in the fourth when Jim Halcomb was safe on a bobble, John Sterling drew a walk, Walt Drewno singled in the first run and Bill Reiber doubled in two more moving to third on the throw to the plate and scored on Harmon Schonfeld's sacrifice fly.

Bob Maronen held Theodore to five hits in gaining his sixth win of the season.

A letter for Dolan

Among the 43 athletes who were awarded monograms at Western Illinois University was a former standout at Romulus High School. He's Dolan Street, who received his letter in varsity track.

ON THE BOARD — Getting ready for the big splash is Belleville's 15-year-old Ray Liebeler who will compete next week at Louisville, Kentucky for the regional VI Junior Olympic diving title. Ray was chosen to represent the state by University of Michigan diving coach Dick Kimball, who is the chairman of the Michigan AAU Junior Olympics. A victory in Louisville on July 16-17 would hurl the young diver into the nationals.

Wayne High considers league commitment

By TOM MOORADIAN

Eagle Sports Editor

There's a "hold" on Wayne Memorial's membership in the Mid-Wayne Conference. And it was placed there by George Bell, principal of the high school.

Wayne, which was left without league affiliation after the demise of the Sauk Trail in June, has had second thoughts about joining the Mid-Wayne, a league in which the Zebras voiced intentions to become members this fall.

In a letter to Benjamin McClain, president of the Mid-Wayne Activities Association, Bell stated, in part, "On behalf of the Wayne Memorial High School I hereby put a 'hold' on our request to be admitted to that league as a full-fledged member in September, 1971. Naturally we plan to honor all contracts which are signed to this point but do not expect to create any more agreements until this picture is clarified."

Bell pointed out that the departure from the league of Garden City East and Riverview left a void in scheduling and competition.

"The league as it now stands with six teams leaves us with a real shortage of competitors in some of our major sports," wrote Bell. "For instance, Wayne Memorial was rated in the state in wrestling last year but, in our surviving members of the league, wrestling exists in three other schools."

"In the area of golf one other member school of the survivors will be able to furnish any competition for us and in swimming only three other members will participate. This means a major portion of my athletic program is without competition throughout most of the surviving schools in the Mid-Wayne League."

Despite their loss to the second place Tigers last week, a rebounding 10-7 victory over the Indians this week clinched the Belleville American League pennant for the Yankees who rounded out the regular season with 11-3 record.

The Tigers were forced to settle for second place, one win away, with 10-4 mark. Meanwhile, the battle over in the National League continues as Dodgers blanked the Braves 6-1 and ripped the Mets 12-5 in their struggle to take that division's championship.

George Sheffler went the distance in carding the victory against the Braves. His teammates gave him four runs to work with in the second inning and from then on he never was seriously threatened the rest of the way.

Ray Green wielded the "big bat" as he blasted a solo homer and then smacked four doubles for a perfect five for five for his efforts. Teammate Steve DeBord also was busy with the stick as he pounded out two hits to pave the way.

However, Mike Webster replied with a pair of roundtrippers for the winners. Though the Pirates knotted the game at 5-all at the end of regulation play, and loaded the bases in the seventh, they couldn't come up with the key hit that would break it open.

With two away in the bottom of the seventh, and with runners on first and third, the Pirate catcher's pick off attempt went astray and Richard Dapsi scored the tie-breaker.

Dapsi was also the winning pitcher in relief, and Steve Stillwagon took the loss for the Pirates, also in relief.

The Cubs trimmed the Braves 11-4 behind a 14-hit attack led by Laine who went

The Mid-Wayne showed signs of crumbling a year-and-half ago when Riverview announced it was leaving the league because of problems with member schools.

Though it refused to come right out and express those "problems" as racial, Riverview's departure left the league with six members. However, Garden City East earlier last month announced its plans of leaving and joining the Northwest Suburban.

East's departure leaves the number of "old members" at five - Dearborn Heights Robichaud and Annapolis, Inkster, Detroit Lutheran West, and Taylor Center.

Whether Wayne Memorial will be an independent playing out its contractual games with the Mid-Wayne teams or competing for the titles in that league next year, Bell was unable to say yesterday.

"We have commitments to the Mid-Wayne in the form of contracts to play and we will honor them," he said.

"This league business has a tremendous amount of intrigue in it," added Bell. "It is a precarious business and since we don't have anything definite, we will have to wait and see what develops."

In Class A, Jack Walker of Allen Park collected 730 points to out pace Chuck Lang of Detroit with 718, and Dick Cardinal's 714.

On the distaff side, Karen Dobar of Plymouth, Sandy Hoinka of Belleville, Gerri

McDonald of St. Clair Shores, and Myrt Urbanowski of Taylor each recorded highest scores in their classes.

In barebow competition Marv Long, Si Hoback, and Bernard Drab, all of the Lincoln Archery Club, took honors while Larry Kittle, Jr. aptly represented the Youth Barebow division.

Montgomery started on the mound and went two innings to get credit for the victory. He needed relief help from Webster in the third inning, though.

About that 'Demise'

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

With today's disclosure by George Bell, principal of Wayne Memorial High School about the intentions of that school to continue a search for league affiliation rather than tie its wagon to a falling star, one suspects that the demise of the controversy Mid-Wayne Conference is near.

There has been trouble - racial trouble in the league. Few school officials wish to discuss the racial issues, hoping that it will apparently dissolve some day.

Maybe, I doubt it. Riverview left the Mid-Wayne because its students had problems with those at Dearborn Heights Robichaud. Of course, this isn't what Riverview said when it left.

Garden City East has had its share of problems with Inkster and also Robichaud, but school officials refused openly to comment - either way - on the subject.

Wayne Memorial's intentions of "leaving" the Mid-Wayne Conference before officially playing one game undoubtedly will have its ramifications upon the league and area.

Though some will speculate that race was a question, it is very doubtful. Wayne had better relationships with Ypsilanti teams, which has a large Negro student population than it did with Dearborn, a solid white school.

The arguments that Bell presented in his letter (published in part in today's edition) to Benjamin McClain, past-principal of Robichaud High School and president of the Mid-Wayne Conference, are legitimate ones.

Bell must seek the best for his students.

Mid-Wayne Failed its Students

It was obvious that the Mid-Wayne had little, if anything, to offer Wayne High Athletes. Wayne, a state power in wrestling for the last three years at least, was entering a league that had nothing to offer in that sport.

The league also had little to offer in the way of golf, tennis, swimming (except maybe for Annapolis High, which is a state ranked team) or girls' sports.

The Mid-Wayne is a loosely operated conference with no constitution and therefore no means to resolving problems which occur among the league members.

It doesn't surprise me that Wayne decided to do an abrupt about face.

What does surprise me is the Mid-Wayne.

This may all seem to be a slap at the Mid-Wayne Conference schools - and in a way it is. I have been around these parts for more than a decade and have watched a good, healthy league crumble because school officials and students failed to work together to bring about racial harmony.

And, believe me, it is basically a question of race. No one wants to play in a 'hot-bed' of racial tension.

That was the 'old' Mid-Wayne.

I fear not only will we soon see the demise of the Mid-Wayne Conference, but of the state high school athletics program as we have known it.

Another Philosophy of Life

I must share my telephone conversations with you, especially the one I had last night with Mrs. Sonja Aspesi, of Canton Township.

If the name doesn't ring a bell, then let's turn back the pages a couple of weeks. You recall those buffalos that were slaughtered on our highways a few weeks ago, don't you? The ones that were spooked for some unknown reason and later struck down by vehicles?

Well, the animals belonged to the Aspesi family, and Mrs. Aspesi called last night, and since I'm the lone night watchman, among other things, we started a conversation, having nothing better to do.

Mrs. Aspesi, a registered nurse at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital and the mother of four small children, related that she didn't know how the animals got out of their corral, but she theorizes that they must have been restless after being pent up during their trip to Michigan.

"They were heifers," said Mrs. Aspesi, "and if their deaths are still being mourned by our small children. We have promised the youngsters to replace them."

The Aspesi dwelling is more like "a zoo", "with horses, blacked bearded chicken, geese, and every animal you can name."

ON TARGET — Ted Hoinka of Belleville outscored all archers to take top position in his class and put Belleville Archery Club in front of the regional competition.

Willy Wonka's factory is full of imagination

David L. Wolper presents a Paramount Picture, "Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory," directed by Mel Stuart, produced by Stan Margulies and Wolper, screenplay by Ronald Dahl from his book, "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory," music and lyrics by Leslie Bricusse and Anthony Newley, conducted by Walter Scharf, Technicolor, Rated G. At the Livonia Cinema and Dearborn Drive-In with the following cast: Gene Wilder, Jack Albertson, Peter Ostrum.

By HOWARD ALLEN
Eagle Movie Critic

The imagination of Roald Dahl is as unlimited as the horizons of the mind. Authors are not usually accused of suffering from an overdose of imagination, but any film which bills itself as scrumdiddlyumptious, as does "Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory" is open to such attack.

Despite Dahl's locale, "Willy Wonka" avoids the most obvious trap and escapes of surfeit of sugar. Willy Wonka is a candy-man assuredly and his candy-land would make a Disney artist jealous, but Willy's sugar flowers have all too real thorns and there is just a trace of a Kafka nightmare amid its splendors.

"Willy Wonka" may be for kindergartners but -- with such tidbits as a lad drowning in chocolate and a girl sucked off to a furnace -- for mature kindergartners only.

Willy, in the person of elfin Gene Wilder, closed his chocolate factory years ago because rivals were spying on him and has been running it with the help of little vegetable-like creatures called Oompa-Loompas.

Now he has hidden five golden tickets in candy bars and the finders are to tour his factory and receive a life time supply of chocolate the news sets off the biggest candy hunt in the history of the world. Men are kidnapped for their candy bars, while a gambler counterfeits a ticket.

The winners are not the choicest of tots and all find their downfall in Willy's factory, tripped up by their own vices. There is a spoiled, rich brat; a brash gum-chewer; a flat and greedy glutton; and a television addict. And also there is Charlie, engagingly played by Peter Ostrum, who makes the tour with his lovable ol' Grandpa Joe, lovingly played by Jack Albertson.

If "Willy Wonka" is just one degree away from what it could be, it is because of a lack of subtlety. Charlie's poverty is satirized with a home in which his four grandparents are perpetual occupants of one bed. Dahl's idea of humor is to drop shoes in a vat of candy to "give it a kick."

Periodically, such heavy notions thud through the picture breaking the spell. And, thanks to a drawn-out examination of the search for the tickets, the picture is half over before we ever enter the factory.

Yet if "Willy Wonka" misses, it isn't by much. Harper Goth's sets are the most visually splendid since Dorothy landed in Oz and if Dahl's lecture on the advisability of manners is somewhat Teutonic, particularly in the martial song of the Oompa-Loompas, there are still enough pleasant stimuli for eye and ear to make the trip worthwhile.

The Leslie Bricusse-Anthony Newley score is mostly utilitarian, but Wilder's number on imagination deserves recording. Director Mel Stuart juggles several elements which threaten to get out of hand reasonably well.

"Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory" is sort of like Walt Disney with a ruler in his hand.

A MAN FOR ALL SEASONS — Mary Benson is Lady Alice More and Howard Jensen is Sir Thomas More in the Hilberry Repertory Company production of Robert Bolt's "A Man for All Seasons." The prize-winning drama opens at 8:30, July 14, at the Hilberry Theatre, continuing nightly through Saturday the same week. It then alternates with Tom Stoppard's comedy, "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead." Performances are Wednesday through Saturday evenings through Aug. 14. Complete schedule and ticket information for the Hilberry Summer Theatre Festival, including six plays, is available from the Wayne State University Theatre Box Office in the Hilberry lobby, Cass and Hancock, telephone 577-2972.

Two coeds travelling to Welsh competition

Two area coeds will be in the audience when the Wayne State University's Men's Glee Club defends its first place title at Llangollen, Wales, Saturday.

In July, 1968 the WSU Men's Glee Club, directed by Dr. Harry Langford, captured first place in the men's choir competition at the International Musical Eisteddfod in Llangollen by scoring the highest point total in the history of the competition.

This year Dr. Langford and the Glee Club are traveling with the Chamber Singers, a 19-voice, mixed group, who will also compete in the Eisteddfod in the mixed choir competition on Friday.

The two area students participating in the European tour are Diana Munch, 6607

Golfview, Garden City, and Pamela Smith, 29536 Julius Blvd., Westland.

The Wayne group will travel in England, Austria, Germany and Switzerland. Highlights include performances at St. Martin-in-the Fields Church at Trafalgar Square, London, concerts at Trinity College Chapel, Cambridge, the Nottingham Festival in Nottingham, England and a concert and reception in Germany for the students in WSU's Junior Year in Munich Program.

They will also perform in a concert in Salzburg, Austria sponsored by the Deutsch-Amerikanisches Institute in the Neupfarrkirche and at the Ossiach Festival "Carinthian Summer" in Ossiach, Austria.

James Tocco appearing at Schoolcraft College

James Tocco, the popular young pianist from Detroit, will appear again this year as guest artist at Schoolcraft College's fifth annual Summer Music Festival. Tocco, who placed fifth at the International Tchaikovsky Piano Competition in Moscow a year ago, will perform Edward MacDowell's "Second Piano Concerto" with the Court Orchestra next Tuesday evening, July 13.

The concert, which begins at 8:30 p.m., will be under the baton of Wayne Dunlap, director of the Schoolcraft College Summer Music School and Festival.

This year's Festival at Schoolcraft focuses on American music, and there are some items of special interest on the series. Tuesday's concert opens with Henry Kimball Hadley's overture, "In Bohemia."

A most interesting event will be the performance of Aaron Copland's "Appalachian Spring" in its original complete version for thirteen instruments.

Preceding Tocco's performance of the MacDowell concerto, Michael Stoune, guest artist from Ann Arbor, will perform Robert W. Jones' "Nocturne" for Alto Flute, Strings and Percussion.

The July 13 concert will be in the Waterman Campus Center on the Schoolcraft College campus, which is located on Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile Roads in Livonia. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children.

The Summer School Orchestra will present its first concert the same week, on Friday, July 16.

From Disney Studios

'Scandalous John' an entertaining film

Walt Disney Productions present a Buena Vista release, "Scandalous John," directed by Robert Butler, produced by Bill Walsh, screenplay by Walsh and Don DaGradi from the novel by Richard Gardner, music by Rod McKuen. Technicolor, panavision. Rated G. 114 minutes. At the Towne with the following cast: Brian Keith, Alfonso Arau, Michele Carey, Rick Lenz, Harry Morgan, Simon Oakland.

By HOWARD ALLEN
Eagle Movie Critic
Did the genius and inventiveness of the Walt Disney Studios die with its founder? That has been suggested in the wake of several highly imitative releases the past year resembling the Disney product of an earlier year warmed over.

Than along comes "Scandalous John," an imaginative and entertaining film for both adult and child, which disproves any such suggestion entirely. "John" is as exciting as any film ever supervised by Disney himself.

Brian Keith stars in as offbeat a role as he has ever had, about 180 degrees away from his typical television pabulum effort, in the title role of a crusty old westerner in a day long after the old west gave way to the automobile and the supermarket. McCanless that, thanks also to a perfect makeup job, it is impossible to visualize the "bachelor father" beneath the mask of the old man here seen.

McCanless is of course the modern Don Quixote. If his ideals are not as noble as those of the man of La Mancha, his conception of reality is as clouded. To McCanless, whose father carved out a cattle empire a half century back, a man must still be armed, the Indians are still about to attack and a desperado named Blackjack is lurking menacingly in the background.

The only villain around, however, is a tycoon who wants to buy up half the county for a dam project and the only piece of property he lacks to complete the deal is McCanless'. But Simon Oakland, as the wheeler-whittaker, holds McCanless' mortgage and so, to the despair of McCanless' granddaughter, Michele Carey, and her suitor, Whittaker's son and agent, Rick Lenz, Scandalous John sets off on his last cattle drive to pay off the mortgage.

It is quite an odyssey, and worthy of Don Quixote. McCanless' Sancho is a mangy Mexican wetback, Paco, played by a limber and mobile-faced newcomer Alfonso Arau almost as a charicature, albeit a warm one. John meets no windmills, but he does hogtie a bunch of motorcycle hippies, whom he mistakes for encircling Indians.

His destination turns out to be a tourist-recreation of an old western town, where he has it out with a "card dealer," tangles with a sheriff, and steals Whittaker's replica of an old wood-burning train on a headlong flight to the ultimate fate for all Don Quixotes who can not exist in the real world.

"Scandalous John" is a bit offbeat as Disney films go, but its easily their best effort in a year.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

A teacher asked her high school class, "Who, in your opinion, is the most popular man in American history? State your reasons for your choice." The question was well intentioned; not intended to be tricky. Varied answers were given. Most students selected Washington or Lincoln and gave good reasons. Some selected sports personalities and also gave good reasons. One student surprised the teacher with a stunningly unexpected choice. He chose Christ!

He explained, "While Christ, since His birth, has had world wide prominence and popularity. He occupies a spot in American history unlike that of any other man. Without a Christ, there would have been no need for our birth as a nation for religious freedom. Christ is the ONLY Man in world OR American history to be popularized in thousands of songs. The songs surround His birth, His life, His death, His resurrection. Nothing of this sort has popularized ANY other man in world OR American history! As long as these songs are sung by growing numbers in America, no one need worry about a dead God - or an unpopular Christ."

Remarkable reasoning! Wouldn't you say so?

Road commission ok's parking plan for Metro

The Wayne County Road Commission has approved a concept that will provide more than 2,000 additional decked parking spaces at Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport.

An agreement was reached with the Detroit firm of Markward & Karafilis for the construction of a four level horizontal design unit with one-way entrance and exit ramps at a cost of $3,978,000.

The selection of the firm was made on the basis of sealed proposals submitted by three firms who were low bidders on the recently completed Wayne State University Parking Structure. The concept was engineered by Giffels Associates, Inc., consultant, retained by Markward & Karafilis.

Michael Berry, chairman of the Board of Road Commissioners, said the Markward & Karafilis proposal was the best of the three considered because it tied most easily into existing parking facilities according to staff analysis. There is also a savings of time and money, he said. Berry's comment was concurred in by his fellow commissioners, Freddie G. Burton and Philip J. Neudeck, who authorized Road Commission staff to finalize a contract.

"I understand that this is quite a bargain in construction costs," said Berry. "We are building spaces for about $2,000 each. A United Airlines representative told me that recently constructed decked parking at Chicago and Seattle airports cost about $5,000 per space."

James M. Davey, managing director of the Road Commission, said that terminal construction needs had reduced the originally budgeted $6,400,000 parking structure estimate by $2,400,000 to approximately $4 million.

"In order to build the necessary spaces within our budget and within the shortest period of time, the board selected the design-build approach," said Davey. "We received three sealed proposals from the three firms who submitted the lowest proposals for building the Wayne State University parking deck and reviewed their ideas," he added.

Davey said the design selected was the most compatible with existing Metro facilities and would make space available around December when the winter vacation peak parking would begin.

He added that the operating airlines at Metro had been fully advised on the transaction and had endorsed it with enthusiasm. The money for the project comes from the current $69 million Airport Revenue Bond Program and no general tax funds are involved.

Included in the current program are improved baggage handling facilities at both terminals, roadway and power house work and an international terminal.

Thomas P. O'Rourke, chairman of the Transportation Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, supported the plan. "The economics of the situation makes this appear to be the best approach," he said.

Parade entries sought for annual 4-H fair

The year of 1971 commemorates the 25th anniversary of the Wayne County 4-H Fair held at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds, located on Quirk Rd., Belleville.

The silver anniversary will be held in the City of Belleville on Sunday, Aug. 12.

A parade, to begin at 2 p.m., will be one of the highlights in celebrating the anniversary. The parade is open to all residents of Wayne County. Entries such as floats, decorated cars, trucks, antiques cars, buggies, etc., are sought by parade officials.

Persons of organizations interested in participating in the parade are asked to fill in the form below. The entry should be marked "Silver or 25th Anniversary" and must be received no later than Aug. 7 to be eligible for the parade. Entries are to be sent to

Conservation club sets annual canoe trip

The third annual canoe trip for couples sponsored by the Huron Valley Conservation Association will be held Saturday, July 24.

The 20-mile trip from Grayling area along the Manistee River is being held under the committee chairmanship of Ernie Knust. He may be contacted at 697-8764.

Other committeemen assisting are Bill Ballinger,

697-2421 and Jerry Heiler 697-8147.

The cost, $20 per couple, will include the canoes, food and beverages.

Highway meeting planned

The Inter-County Highway Commission's third quarterly meeting will be held at the Chrysler Corporation's Chelsea Proving Grounds.

The meeting will start promptly at 10 a.m. July 19. The corporation's proving grounds is located on M-52, two miles south of I-94 Expressway in western Washtenaw County.

The regular business meeting will be followed by a tour of the proving grounds, with emphasis being placed on a new wind tunnel facility and the research that is being undertaken by the corporation in the area of environmental pollutants.

Mrs. Paul Kolver, 9008 Haggerty Rd., Belleville, Mich. 48111.

The parade will start at the Belleville High School parking lot, located at 501 W. Columbia Ave., at 1 p.m. It will proceed down Columbia Ave. to Main St., right on Belleville Rd., left on the service drive of I-94 Expressway to Quirk Rd. and will convene at the fairgrounds.

All entries will be judged and trophies will be given in such areas as floats, decorated bicycles, best dressed clown, and decorated vehicles, such as cars and trucks.

League picnic scheduled

The Belleville Little League picnic will be held at 1 p.m., July 10 at the Ellwood Picnic Area in Lower Huron Metropolitan Park, Belleville.

Parents will be contacted by representatives of league teams as to what to bring. All managers, assistant managers, umpires as well as their families are invited to attend the picnic. For further information call 697-0556 or 697-8830.

Church issued $90,000 permit

The Van Buren Township Building Department has issued a building permit for the construction of an educational unit at the new site of the Faith United Methodist Church, Michigan Ave. and Denton Rd., Denton.

The estimated cost of the educational unit, the initial phase of the church's three phase building program, is reported at $90,000.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new unit were held in June.

The unit will have 3,942 square feet of activity space. The total cost of the planned building program, with 10,000 square feet of space is reported at $220,000.

4-Hers concerned with action for safety

Safety is a year-round concern of everyone. And to put concern into action three special weeks have been designated during 1971. Poison Prevention Week is observed in March. Farm Safety Week is scheduled July 25-31 and Fire Prevention Week in October.

These special safety weeks are of significance to the half-million boys and girls in the 4-H safety program. The young people, 9-19 years of age, with the guidance of the Cooperative Extension Service, identify hazards in their homes, schools and communities and then work to correct them. And the special week observances give added opportunities for safety activities and the involvement of others.

Another tremendous boost in their endeavors comes from General Motors, sponsor of the 4-H safety program for the past 26 years.

Through the National 4-H Service Committee, the company offers recognition to individuals, clubs and county

4-H groups carrying on significant safety programs. Topping the list of individual awards are eight scholarships of $1,000 each for national winners. An expense-paid trip to the 50th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 28 — Dec. 2, is offered to a winning member in each state. And up to four medals of honor per county are offered to promising young safety enthusiasts.

Certificates of merit are offered to 4-H clubs and groups and the best county 4-H safety program in each state is eligible for a $25 cash award.

In helping 4-H'ers move their concerns to action, General Motors publishes and distributes a Safety Handbook for 4-H Leaders and safety cue sheets for members. The popular publications suggest safety activities in the area of boating, swimming, traffic, environment and the company's Green Pennant program.

The 4-H safety program sponsor also supplements its educational materials with films and other visual aids.

For more information on the 4-H safety program and ways adults as well as young people can become involved, contact the state 4-H leader or county extension office.

Troop 793 returns from canoe outing

Boy Scout Troop 793 sponsored by St. Anthony's Church of Belleville has returned from the Rifle River canoe base operated by the Detroit Area Council. The scouts spent 10 days at the canoe base.

Under the leadership of Ed Lauth, Harold Innes, Warren Branscomb, and Fenton Creith, the boys received comments from the ranger in charge of the camp that they were an outstanding unit and had really accomplished a lot while on the trip.

The Paul Bunyan Axman Award was earned by all the Scouts while they cleared undeveloped campground areas into three campsites including a canoe landing base.

This area was named Sheep Flats and an archway across the entrance was erected by the Scouts with their troop name and number on it. A permanent marker was also built at the canoe base.

They loaded their canoes and racked up 85 miles on the water for the 50-miler Akoot-Afloat Award which requires only 50 miles on the water and 10 hours of conservation work.

On their return trip they stopped at St. Agatha's Church, where Scoutmaster Anthony Talaga received the St. George Award.

Scoutmaster Talaga reported that it was really a great feeling as he pulled up to the Church to see all his boys in full uniform, colors flying, waiting for him to appear for his award.

Mike Tinnies of Troop 735, Romulus, was also on the trip as an assisting leader. The scouts seemed to really enjoy their buddy "Moose" and the companionship he gave them.

Scouts attending the trip were John and Rick Creith, Tom, Tim, and Paul Branscomb, Paul and Mark Lauth, Harold and Mark Innes, Jim Lentz, David Clay, Joseph Meggeri, Gordie Sullens, Ron and Joe Haynes, Rand McNally, Lionell Monteil and Cris Liedel.

Students make dean's honor list

Two area students have been named to the Dean's honor roll at the Lawrence Institute of Technology for academic excellence during the past term.

The students are Phillip Neir, 8042 Belleville Rd., Belleville, enrolled in electronics technology. He is a graduate of Belleville High School.

And Joseph Verseyer, 15584 Taft, St., Romulus, now studying architecture. Both have maintained better than a 3.5 scholastic average out of a possible 4-point.

4-H photography key to fun, thrills, careers

The Chinese proverb "A picture is worth more than 10,000 words," is an understatement. 4-H members contend. Rather they see a picture as the "Open Sesame" to an endless variety of experiences, opportunities and careers.

And the young photographers, many now too old for 4-H, prove it with reports of romance and foreign intrigue and architecture, newspapers and TV reporting, occupational therapy, research and theology, to name a few.

Contacting past winners in 4-H photography, Eastman

Kodak Company, national sponsor of the program, has come up with fascinating replies from young people around the world.

One of the 1966 winners from North Dakota used his photography skills extensively in his travels throughout Europe and Egypt. However, it got him into a bit of trouble, he reports. "My photography placed me in an awkward position one afternoon in Cairo, Egypt.

I did not know that it was against the law to take pictures of bridges, harbors, etc., because of the Middle East Conflict. I was about to take a picture of a bridge in the middle of Cairo when I was stopped and arrested. I was charged with being a spy and held at machine-gun point for six hours. I was interrogated by the secret police and CIA of Egypt and finally released after convincing them that I was only a tourist. I was freed, but the film was kept.

Eastman Kodak Company provides the awards through the program arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee. The company also has provided assistance in the development of educational materials and visual aids including the currently popular television series, "4-H Photo Fun Club."

For more information about the 4-H photography program, the local viewing schedule of the "4-H Photo Fun Club" TV series or how to volunteer as a leader in this or other 4-H activities, contact the state 4-H leader or the county extension office.

Three get degrees

Central Michigan University awarded degrees to 1,495 students at the university's recent commencement ceremonies.

Miss Deborah A. Ford, 15312 Elwell Rd., Belleville, a Bachelor of Science degree in Education.

Cindy L. Dombek, 29401 Martinsville Rd., of New Boston, was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree; and John F. Peters, 20350 Vining Rd., also of New Boston, received a bachelor of Science degree in Education.

Youth from area may enter program

A group of area youths will enter the 14th annual Detroit Metropolitan Youth Fitness Program to be held July 29 at the Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville.

The Van Buren summer recreation program is sponsoring the group which will be composed primarily of North and South junior high school students and others of the township and city areas who would like to enter, according to Bryan Killingbeck, director.

There is no entry fee.

Trophies and other awards will be given to each participant. Youths from 11 to 15 years of age are eligible to take part.

Youths who have won letters in school sports cannot enter competition, said Killingbeck.

Auditors estimate cost of jail improvements

Already facing a budget deficit, Wayne County's Board of Commissioners has been given a $3.8 million price tag for jail improvements proposed as immediate steps to meet the dictates of a three-judge Circuit Court panel.

The commissioners were given the cost estimate by the County Board of Auditors while meeting as the Ways and Means Committee June 24.

The proposed jail improvements were referred to the commissioner's Law Enforcement and Public Safety Committee for analysis and recommendations.

The three-judge panel, in the ruling issued May 18, ordered that plans for a number of improvements be submitted to them within 30 days.

The proposals bearing the $3.8 million cost estimate were prepared by Sheriff William Lucas and Buildings Sup. Edward J. Bresnahan to meet that stipulation.

However, Robert E. FitzPatrick, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, met with the three judges prior to the Ways and Means Committee meeting and explained that the board had not had time to consider the proposed improvements.

The judges extended their deadline to July 26. The panel consists of Judges Victor J. Baum, Richard M. Maher and John D. O'Hair.

The Lucas proposal calls for the addition of 79 employees and building renovations to expand the medical, psychiatric and drug treatment programs and to increase the force of deputies at the jail.

In line with the court directive that recreation facilities be provided, Bresnahan submitted a plan for construction of a recreation area over the present parking area at the jail.

The Auditors estimated the cost of the Lucas package at $1,414,000 and the Bresnahan plan at $2,444,500 for a total cost of $3,858,500. They expressed "reservations" about the number of positions requested by Lucas.

It was pointed out at the Ways and Means meeting that the county commissioners took steps to improve jail conditions before the court judgment was handed down. They have ordered a $1.5 million renovation of the plumbing, electrical system and ventilation; requested plans for a 500-prisoner jail annex; and increased the jail operating budget from $3.2 million to $4.2 million within the last two years.

Sutherlands reach 63rd anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Sutherland celebrated their 63rd wedding anniversary at the home of their grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Russ, III, on Biggs Street.

Mr. Sutherland was born in Coshocton County, Ohio in 1887 and at the age of two was taken to Washington, Indiana where he grew up and later married Della M. Dayton, a native of that area, in 1908. Prior to moving to Belleville in the fall of 1934, he was a commercial fruit grower and dairyman. In Michigan he worked on the Ford Farms for 10 years and at the Willow Run Airport for another 11.

To this union was born six children: W. B. Sutherland of Wabash Street, Dorothy Farman of Quirk Road, and Mildred McQuaid of Edgemont Street, all of Belleville; James P. Sutherland, Jr. of Ypsilanti, Mabel Russ of Liberty Street, Belleville, and Virginia, deceased. There are also 14 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren on the family tree.

The Sutherlands, who summer with their children, spend their winters at their mobile home in Palmetto, Florida.

Roseann Light feted at shower

A linen shower honoring Roseanne Light, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Light of Borgman Street, was held June 24 at the Elwell Road home of Mrs. James Salisbury.

Games were played after which the honoree unwrapped the many gifts for her new home.

Twenty-five ladies were present to enjoy a buffet luncheon which included melon boat dessert served with cake and beverages. Assisting the hostess were Janice Hampton of Wayne, who's to be honor attendant at the wedding, and Suzanne Light of Ypsilanti, a future bridesmaid.

Roseanne will be married to Fred Ethcen at St. Anthony's Catholic Church on August 27.

Amy Alice is Segur's first daughter

Amy Alice has joined the Paul Segur family of 15350 Hannan Road, Romulus. She weighed an even eight pounds on her arrival June 18 at Riverside Hospital, Trenton.

Amy has two brothers, Timothy and Jason, and her mother is the former Deanna Eckert of Romulus. Visiting at the Segur home and getting acquainted with the new arrival for the next six weeks are Amy's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Barbara Eckert, and daughters, Debbie and Brenda, from Dunedin, Florida. Mrs. Eckert is an elementary teacher there.

Final-Welch engagement is announced

The engagement of their daughter, Deborah Kay Final, to Gene Welch is announced by Mrs. Robert Dennis of 9357 Barry Drive, Romulus, and Robert Final of 2450 McDowell, Ferndale.

The bride-elect is a member of Romulus High School's class of 1971. Her fiancé earned his diploma while serving with the U.S. Air Force for four years.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Welch of 37626 Walnut Drive, Romulus, the prospective bridegroom resides at 185 Metro Apartments on Merriman Road, Romulus. He is currently employed at Jet Air Freight in Inkster.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Know your poultry

When is a chicken more than a chicken?

When it's a broiler-fryer, according to Maryann Aldrum, Michigan State University consumer marketing information agent. A broiler-fryer is a tender soft-meated bird weighing between two and four pounds, she explains. In most of the country these are called broilers.

On the west coast, however, they're commonly known as fryers. So, the two terms are interchangeable.

Why not just call them chickens? Because there are other kinds, too, like stewing chickens. Calling them broiler-fryers differentiates between the various kinds, Miss Meldrum points out.

Getting married? Tell us about it

Want to share that 'special day' with those who are unable to be present, in person, for your wedding ceremony? We'll write the details of your wedding in story form for you — and at no charge — if you'll simply follow a few guidelines.

The Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman offer bridal questionnaires for you to fill out as well as engagement forms for announcing the 'start of it all.'

Forms may be picked up at our office, 405 Main Street, (we're in the old Township Hall now) anytime during the week or will be mailed out if a telephone request is made. Call the Women's Editor at 697-9191.

Expensive roadway at Pike's Peak

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The 20-mile highway up 14,110 foot Pike's Peak, which overshadows this city, is considered one of the most expensive to maintain in the world.

Seven million cubic feet of snow must be removed from the road when clearing begins each spring. Once the snow has been cleared and the road opened, water from the melting snow fields presents a drainage problem, sometimes washing away huge sections of pavement.

There's a busy summer ahead for Gail

GAIL FREYSINGER, daughter of the John J. Freysingers of Sunrise Lane, was honored Sunday, June 20, at an open house marking her graduation from Belleville High School.

Guests from all over Michigan, 85 in all, enjoyed the buffet-style dinner which was served amid a color scheme of black and orange, the school colors. Bouquets of orange and white daisies, the class flower, were also arranged on tables throughout the house.

The party also served as a farewell gesture to Gail who, on returning from Oakland University's orientation session, had only a few days to prepare for her trip to Europe with the Discovery Youth Chorale.

When she returns from her 30-day vacation on the Continent, she will have about three weeks to ready things for classes at Oakland where she plans to major in music.

Rest of Freysingers are on-the-go, too

WHILE GAIL has a full schedule ahead of her, her family has already begun their summer routine. Her parents, the John Freysingers, with Happy and Bob motored to Springfield, Illinois recently for a meeting on Budgeting for Nurses in the Tri-State Area.

While John was busy chairing meetings at the Holiday Inn, the remainder of the family visited Lincoln Country.

After returning from Illinois, John, Frances and Happy traveled to a meeting of the Michigan Hospital Association at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island where John presided over three sessions of the Board of Trustees.

In the meantime, Fran and Happy spent their time biking and touring about the Island and visiting old friends.

Sunday after their return the family attended a concert presented by the Discovery Youth Chorale in Roseville. Gail, of course, was part of the group and later attended the buffet dinner which was hosted by the Fergusons at their home in Rochester for all participants and their families.

Hills are back from California

THE HILLS - Art, Joy, Diane, and Laurie-have returned from a whirlwind two weeks on the West Coast. Departing Metro Airport via American's 747 Luxury Liner on the 17th, they flew to Los Angeles where they were met by Art's sister and brother-in-law, Sadie and Aurel Robb and their family, of Placentia.

As houseguests of Art's brother and his wife, Jim and Therese Hill in Buena Park, they divided their time between the two families while doing the tourist bit in the area.

With Sadie as their guide at Disneyland, they were able to visit the prime attractions and get the most out of their day (she having visited the park on countless occasions.) They also went to Knott's Berry Farm where they witnessed the premiere at the new John Wayne Theater seeing 'The Duke' himself as well as Glen Campbell.

Other highlights were their day-long tour of Universal Studios; a drive up the scenic Pacific Coast Highway; and two days in Las Vegas for Art and Joy, Jim and Therese.

Former resident cops championship

FORMER BELLEVILLITE, Mrs. Anthony (Irene) Lopucki, now of Ann Arbor, and her golfing partner, Mrs. Dutch Swader of West Shore, walked off with the low ball championship at the recent Golf Invitational at the West Shore Golf and Country Club at Grosse Ile.

A member of the Washtenaw Country Club, Mrs. Lopucki and her links-mate scored a 67 and 69.

Also taking part in the tournament and winning a prize in their flight were Mrs. Charles (Charlotte) King of Harmony Lane and Mrs. Charles Hewson of West Shore.

The two-day event, which had 80 women competing, was climaxed with a Hawaiian luau at the Club.

Carolyn is feted at bridal shower

CAROLYN GOLDSMITH, who's to become the bride of Bob Bonnici this Saturday, July 10, was the honored guest June 30 at a personal and linen shower. Held at the home of her parents, the Williams Goldsmiths of Sherwood Road, the party was hosted by the bride-elect's sister, Sherry Harvey of Garden City, and her aunts, Helen Walton of Romulus and Ardie Bailey of Belleville.

Some 20 guests from Detroit, Garden City, New Boston, Romulus, and Belleville enjoyed an evening of bridal-theme games followed by a buffet of sandwiches, assorted desserts, and punch. A special cake with the inscription, "Best wishes, Carolyn and Bob", served as center piece.

With the help of her sister, Dian, Carolyn then opened the many pretty gifts from her guests.

St. Anthony's Catholic Church has been reserved for the wedding.

Is 'cents-off' label a bargain or 'come-on'?

Is the grocery store shopper getting a bargain when she buys a can of furniture polish marked "7 cents off regular price?"

And how important are such promotions to the manufacturer of supermarket products?

Alfred Gross of the New York University Schools of Business Administration reports the results of a study on use of the much-criticized "cents-off" tactic in the current issue of BUSINESS TOPICS, Michigan State University's quarterly business magazine.

Manufacturer of food, household products and personal or bathroom supplies who have used the cents - off promotion in the past were surveyed by Gross for the Consumer Research Institute.

Cents-off is the leading promotion tactic by far for the product groups surveyed, he reports.

And compared to other promotions (like the coupon, refund or bonus pack) cents-off offers generated more sales.

"Manufacturers reported 27 per cent of sales were attributable to this tactic," Gross reports in Business Topics.

He concludes that "elimination or severe curtailment would have

Gross believes the answer to controls suitable to the industry will come from study of product life cycles and how leading and lesser brands use cents - off promotions.

In his study of 208 product categories, Gross found that cents-off promotions were used twice as often with declining brands as with successful ones, and that smaller brands tend to use the tactic considerably more than leading brands.

SENIOR CITIZENS SPEND MOST FOR Rx DRUGS

Our senior citizens - men and women over 65 years of age - spend about five times as much for prescribed medicines as young people aged 15 to 24 years. This was the conclusion of a study of 134,000 persons done by the National Center for Health Statistics.

The study found that the largest part of the average of $41.40 spent by oldsters was $7.10 for treatment of high blood pressure. This was followed by $5.70 for treatment of heart conditions.

Women spent more for prescription drugs on the average, $46.70, than men, whose average was around $34.70. And women spent more on treatment of high blood pressure and heart disease than men did.

As for nonprescription drugs, the elderly, men and women alike, spent the most for aspirins and vitamins.

One woman's view of education crisis

Editor's note: The following article was submitted by Mrs. Jan Wyman of Belleville, mother of three children. In the article she presents her views on the June 14 defeat of a proposed one year three mill tax increase by the voters in the Van Buren Public School District. The millage lost by a 122 vote margin.

By JAN WYMAN

The voters bear an important message in this last millage defeat. Our legislators in Lansing should take heed for it is their responsibility now to find the method of financing our schools.

Up to now with their "head in the sand" game Education has been a political football used by the politicians to gain individual status.

Taxation Without Representation is any taxpayer's constant danger. Considering our Socialistic times taxpayers are fortunate to still control a vote in guiding their tax dollar.

But, in fairness to our children it is unfortunate if you and I cast a no vote on a millage request because we are angry at the President, the Governor, our representatives in Washington and Lansing or at the Wayne County Road Commission for their initial steps to enlarge Willow Run Airport.

Has thinking become a lost art? Have reactions become the norm? It seems we all have replaced thinking with reacting to the issues and the problems of our times.

Must we become like so many other communities in Michigan denying funds for education because we are fed up with poor representation in Lansing, with priorities in our standard of education, with inflation, with teachers and administrators on tenure, with discipline problems, with destruction to school property and with lack of communication?

Taxpayers have every right to be disappointed with our legislators and with our standard of education. But we might better assume our responsibility to the kids and afford the necessary funds to educate them. Denying them will bring far more headaches for us all. Hold your temper for the legislators when again they seek your vote at the polls. It is these men (not the superintendent of our schools) who should be applying their efforts for a better method of financing our schools.

Yes, we have our minuses, our disappointments in the system and our lack of communication. But, we have our pluses. Let's concentrate on our better half when we go to the polls again. Let us take pride in individual teachers dedicated to quality education and to all the Johnnies and Janes.

These teachers are not primarily concerned with salaries or the immediate environment of where they teach. Though they might wish it better these teachers are teachers' teachers -- professional in every sense.

Some of them are: Nancy McClure, Jim Lightfoot, Donna Hidenfelter, Helen Stokes, Jon Hale, Marian Batzer, Jan Linn, Norma Vinson, Wanda Shirley, Cleo Wright, Kay Hooten, Marge Emerson, Eloise Congdon, Linda Seaman, Jim Richendollar (if only there were more), Helen Wilson, Edith Steinman and Stella Bialas.

And in the past Doris Roe, Thelma Ammerman, Wilma Riggs, Velma Kulzer, Helen Corzine, Marjorie Jahr, Dortha Simmons, Ruth Riggs, Mary Norman, Herman

Keller, Jane Richardson and Carl Simmons.

We must include Helen Nass, Doreen Binder, Ella Wollery, Phyllis Seaman and Phillis Greer for their outstanding efforts.

There are many more who care for each child down the line. Of those I've mentioned I did not have their permission to do so. I do not wish to embarrass them. The intent is to emphasize clearly a point of quality. Another plus is a more concentrated effort to enlarge our library with more up to date materials.

We must give credit to our Superintendent and to our school board who endeavor to coordinate our school system into a workable plan. Their initial steps are beginning to show.

In the very near future we will see an expanded vocational program geared to the large percent of non college students. It will take more years and more money to satisfy that percent, but we have the initial beginning of something vital and good.

It was a giant step when over 100 citizens served on various citizen committees allowing, if nothing else, 100 better informed people. This step carried both advantages and disadvantages.

Our present Superintendent Dale Kaulitz has done more to open wide the doors of our school system to this community than any man before him. He has met the changing of our times. Such steps as this brings more criticisms than constructive suggestions. Regardless of the price it has been an immensely healthy step in sharing communications.

None of us who attend a few school board meetings, serve on a citizen committee or a parent teacher organization, nor by walking through one of the schools can possibly comprehend the entire complex system and make snap token judgements.

The biggest plus of all is the kids themselves. The majority of our 7,000 students are productive and well behaved people. They do care and they do want to learn. Unfortunately, the one percent trouble makers sometimes outweigh them in the noise of their destruction.

If we down here midst the rank and file of parents are to believe that destruction to school property is serious then let's fit the punishment to the crime. If these youngsters do not wish to apply themselves then ask them to leave. It's costing the taxpayer close to $1,000 per year to keep them in school. I wonder how much of a cheering section these kids have while they are destroying.

Cutting up is one thing, but destroying property is quite another and should not be tolerated. We are partly to blame. We never let Johnny do much for himself. Mom, Dad and society has done it for him. This generation of youth is more intelligent, capable and spirited than we were in our youth. We have got to rely on them and allow them more of an attentive ear and more responsibility.

On something as vital as a millage request it should be a one sided affair with all of sharing the facts initiating the need. The Van Buren Public

'What's it going to cost us to join together, to face the facts, to live with our problems, to take positive action in benefitting our main interest: Kids?'

Schools is a seven million dollar business. We taxpayers are the stockholders and our children are the interest. It's up to the administrators and the stockholders to get together for the sake of the interest. The only avenue is communication.

One possible means to establish wider communications might be to have a standing, rotating citizen committee acting as an advisory board to the administration and to the school board. This committee could encompass teachers, students, parents, senior citizens and administrators. Their meetings could be open assuring confidence to the public with all minutes of their sessions published.

Such a group could be citizen elected on a term basis or less costly citizen appointed through the various citizen committees and parent teacher organizations.

Some of things such a committee could do would be to examine our priorities within our standard of education; to initiate action on millage requests (how nice if citizens in close relationship with the school might appear before the school board initiating the appropriation of funds to enhance quality education. We in the community should recognize the need in our schools and back it to the hilt with the necessary funds. Those of us depending on the legislature to devise a system to finance schools realize that when they post us for income tax we have sacrificed very possibly our rights to govern our own schools. Another precious liberty thrown to the winds! Frustrating, isn't it?)

Oh, there is so much we Americans could do on such a committee. They could investigate our vocational program as it is now and take into consideration that the jobs of the future will call for the non college student.

Let's prepare these kids to seek within the labor market a decent standard of living with the best skills we can provide them. Considering in the next short ten or twenty years this country will be owned by ten different companies we ought to apply strong efforts in preparing them for the labor market. Twenty years from now those who griped about big government will be griping more when a few companies tell them their cans and cannots.

Such a committee would serve a far better purpose for the total community than those groups of people who thumbs down everything before an election. We must challenge these people to offer constructive suggestions for our ills. We have much need for the loyal opposition, but there is a responsibility in that when we criticize we must offer alternatives.

It utterly amazes me that these people can feel victorious because of their efforts in defeating a millage request for one year. This community awaits your alternative suggestion as to what measures you would take to provide 7,000 children in this next year with an education.

Some of us have titled our school as a babysitting factory. If so, let's look at the price. Take your property tax bill and deduct your school tax. Then consider your children are in school 180 days of the year and from the time he leaves the house until he arrives home on an average day he is gone eight hours a day.

Now multiply 180 days by 8 hours equaling 1,440 hours per year your child is in school. Next divide total hours of 1,440 into your school tax and you will find that it costs per child anywhere from twenty cents to thirty-five cents an hour. Take what you spend per child per year and multiplying it with how many children you have you are still way ahead unless you have a better answer of educating your children at the same cost or less.

In real fairness compare what you spend for your children's education with what you spend to entertain yourselves in the course of a year and you find educating your children is still more than reasonable.

If that "babysitting factory" gets into trouble from lack of operational funds we'll find those who never go to the polls or those who vote no millage screaming the most. Where are we going to find anyone to take charge of our kids at this rate who endeavor to teach them something?

I exclude the businessmen who pay a large tax to our children's education because their tax base is not known.

Thomas Jefferson, who initiated public education, never meant that it was to be the miracle aid to the child. Parents have always provided the child with the nucleus of his education through their own code of morality, quality of family life (materialistic things excluded) and experiencing. As family oriented as we are it's the best method yet.

In the long run public education is a form of discipline acclimating the child into community life and a preparation for him to meet the challenges of his adult life.

A child's basic native intelligence and manners are developed by the time he is four years old. The parent is the main educator and only with the parent's encouragement does the child truly succeed to the best of his capabilities.

The educator simply supplements the qualities the parents instills in his child. No teacher desires or should replace the parent role. We all must live with the results of the child's productivity. The best favor a parent can do for his child is to follow along his curriculum and his progression, but never to push the child beyond his capabilities, nor to underestimate his capabilities.

Yes, I have my personal gripes regarding our standard of education, however, I do not consider it fair to procrastinate upon them publicly. This community is over ridden now with gripe sharing. It's an exhausting game and too many of us spend too much time at it, myself included.

Negative expressions and nit picking bring about only depression. We all appreciate and benefit more from that which is positive and from maintaining vision down the long road of life. No importance is intended to cite one's personal opinion. The intent here is to excite community interest in a positive vein in our schools because all our children are that precious; those 7,000 kids in school are ours.

What's it going to cost us to join together, to face the facts, to live with our problems, to take positive action in benefiting our main interest: Kids?

Let's get involved and help the situation, not hinder it. And, at the polls let's not hamper the children because we are ticked off with tax increases.

The only legitimate gripe about taxes is our senior citizens who should not have to beat that burden on their pension retirement.

Being involved in a very necessary thing for us all. We all talked about whether we are involved or not.

Considering there are close to 10,000 registered voters comprising our school community and a total of 2,439 people voted in the last election if this letter reaches one out of the remaining 7,561 voters to state his opinion then the effort extended by the 2,439 who voted is well worth it.

And, for those 2,439 voters we have our wrongs but it's worth it to support that which is decent and ever so right.

What faults in a single girl are most apt to shut down the interest of her gentleman friends? That's what the marriage counselors wanted to know. So they engaged a pollster to query a sizable sampling of bachelors. These men listed the following unfortunate traits, in order, as the more objectionable: 1. Conspicuous misbehavior. 2. Overeagerness. 3. Aloofness. 4. Self-sufficiency. 5. Nervous tensions. 6. Self-centered conversation. 7. Superior intelligence.

Records in hospital emergency rooms show mothers swallow twice as many pins as do babies . . . Is it not a fact all West Pointers are good dancers? . . . It was just such glassine envelopes, he said, which pushers procure as paraphernalia to package their heroin in.

Open question: How do you account for the fact a woman's hair grows more swiftly than a man's?

You've failed staredown, have you not? That game wherein a pair of you gaze into each other's eyes until somebody blinks. Now a New Jersey physician contends that's a scientific pain test. A citizen extraordinarily sensitive to pain may blink in as little as five seconds. That party with average pain sensitivity may blink once in about 25 seconds. And the most stoic soul may not blink before 60 seconds. Test yourself, sir.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

General tendencies: A day and evening to get all small duties out of the way to clear the decks for much more important things which will develop shortly and will put you in a better position. Look into matters pertaining to utilities, sales and purchases of all kinds.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Good day to get home or place of business in as good order as possible for efficient functioning. Co-workers have good suggestions. Follow them willingly and quickly.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) A good morning for visiting beautician or barber in preparation for entertainments ahead. Make the right appointments now. Don't forget to pay your important bills first.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Get home in order before you go back to work in earnest for the outstanding success ahead that will follow the holiday rush. Buy whatever is needed to make your dwelling more attractive and smoother running. Don't rush things, though.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Ideal day for buying or selling. Make and keep appointments with everyone who can be of assistance to you and vice versa. You need to be a more positive person.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make those small repairs around the house that will add to efficiency and will prevent greater damage and increased costs that will develop if neglected. Analyze financial position carefully. Improve your budget.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Morning is a good time to take those health treatments you need to become more vibrant. Plan how to entertain more hospitably in the future, and invite people to whom you owe favors. Avoid extravagance, though.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) An early start on all those duties ahead of you is necessary if you are to plow through them efficiently. Don't neglect personal tasks. Then quietly do whatever you most like to do.

Tomorrow's forecast from the Carroll Righter Institute

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have been neglecting to see good friends because you have been too busy, so make amends now. Go out to the amusements that give you pleasure, also. Stop feeling so sorry for yourself.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Concentrate on the various career or civic matters that intrigue you and bring the right results. Talk over with a higher-up ways you can improve your public image. Follow advice.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Start studying subjects that will help to make your life richer and more rewarding, give you a chance to travel and be more independent. Making new friends can prove to be most worthwhile. Pick them well.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have made promises to others that need to be kept scrupulously now, so get busy early in the morning. A good pm. to talk over with mate whatever does not please you. Come to a satisfactory understanding.

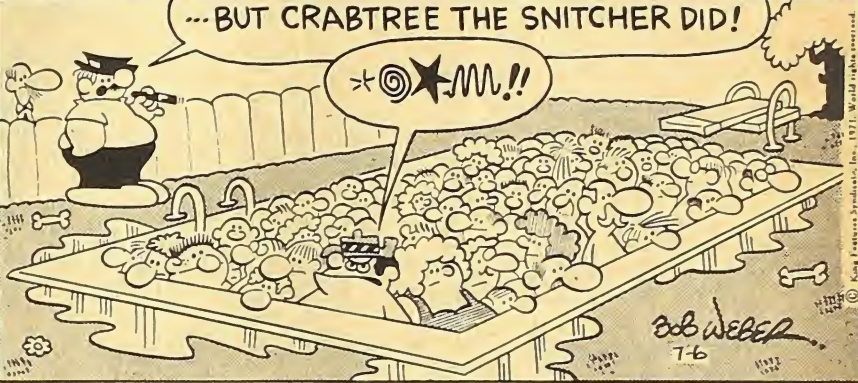

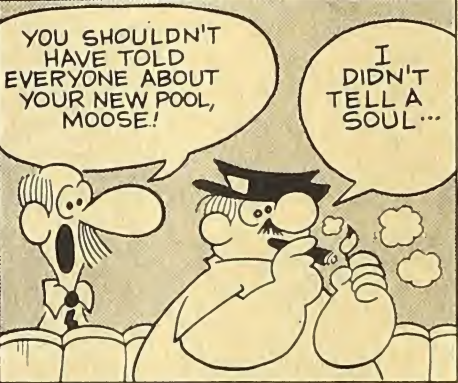

Pisces Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If you are practical, you can make those new arrangements with partner that are very good for both of you. Don't let that difficult individual irritate you. Courtesy will solve the matter.

If your child is born today, he or she will be one of those delightful little fuss-budgets whose middle name is order and neatness. But this youngster is apt to make such a fetish about this that you had better teach early to give attention to the important issues of life first and then bother only with whatever details are necessary, or your child could miss the bus for counting his change too carefully. With such guidance, this chart could become an extremely successful one. A fine writer here, also.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you.

Value of Kaiser rising

If your car is a Kaiser or a Fraser, hang on to it. According to the president of the Kaiser-Fraser Owners Club, the car will be worth what you originally paid for it by 1980.

National president Kenneth B. Mericle of 47090 Denton Rd., Belleville, who owns eight of the old cars with the Buffalo ornament on the hood, says he hasn't driven any other brand of car since K-F went out of production 15 years ago.

The public was just not sophisticated enough when the cars came on the market in the late 40's and early 50's, Mericle believes.

"The market wasn't ready for the style and trim we had at that time," he said.

But apparently, the public is sophisticated enough now, and classic car collectors have driven the going price of the vehicles to within $1,000 of their original $3,500 cost.

The Kaiser-Fraser Owners Club, Mericle said, now has 1,300 members, many of them United Auto Workers Union members who helped build the cars they are so carefully preserving.

Jobs available in NYC project

The 1971 summer Neighborhood Youth Corps Project, a youth work-experience program sponsored by the Wayne County Intermediate School District, has been expanded this summer to include $,044 work opportunities for youth ages 14-21 in 13 Wayne out-county communities.

In addition to serving youth who will be returning to school in the fall, school dropouts ages 16-21 are eligible to apply.

All enrollees will work approximately 26 hours four days per week for local school districts, private non-profit agencies, federal, state and city governments. All enrollees will earn $1.60 per hour.

Enrollees will also be expected to participate one day per week in planned group occupational orientation sessions and visitations to local industry and business.

Enrollment will be limited to qualified youth from low-income families.

Interested young men and women in the Romulus and Huron School Districts are encouraged to apply at the Michigan Employment Security Commission office located at 34530 Sims, Wayne.

Mahalak introducing Casimir Pulaski bill

State Representative Edward E. Mahalak (D) Romulus has introduced legislation which would make Oct. 11 of each year "Casimir Pulaski Day" in honor of the Polish hero of the American Revolution.

Oct 11 marks the date that Pulaski died of wounds suffered while commanding American and French cavalry in the siege of Savannah.

"In introducing this bill," Mahalak said, "I feel that there should be special recognition in the state of Michigan for this Polish soldier who fought and died in the American Revolution. He is a symbol of the friendship that has existed between the Polish and American peoples since the revolution. He is truly an American hero for all Polish-Americans."

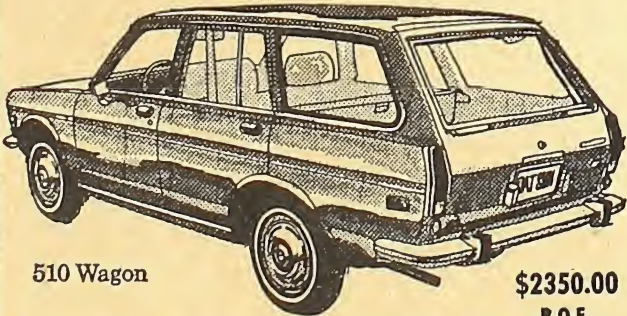

Pulaski fought tyranny in his native Poland where he came from a noble family. He was eventually outlawed and fled to France. While in France, he met Benjamin Franklin and offered his services to the cause of the American revolution. Because of his experience as a soldier, his services were immediately accepted.

Pulaski distinguished himself at the battle of Brandywine and was promoted to the rank of brigadier general. He was with Washington at Valley Forge. He organized an independent corps of cavalry and light infantry that was known as Pulaski's legion.

Pulaski fought in South Carolina and at the siege of Savannah where he was mortally wounded. He died two days later, on Oct. 11, 1779, aboard the American brig, Wasp.

Commissioners delay raises

Consideration of proposed pay raises for elected Wayne County officials has been delayed until October by the County Board of Commissioners.

Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick said the action killed a proposal that elected officials, their assistants and appointed members of board and commissions be given a blanket increase amounting to 25 1/2 percent.

The commissioners acted while meeting as the Ways and Means Committee June 24. They voted, 16-9 to delay consideration until they begin deliberations on next year's budget in October.

A number of commissioners spoke out strongly against the proposed blanket hike, but said they were willing to consider some increases for officials on an office-by-office basis. Most officials have not had any raises since 1968.

Some commissioners who voted against delaying consideration of increases declared they were doing so in order to have an immediate opportunity to defeat the proposed package.

The proposed increases were recommended on a split vote by the Personnel Activities Subcommittee of Ways and Means. The 25 1/2 percent figure was based on the fact that the salaries of some career county management personnel have increased by that amount since 1968. The figure was one of three alternative increases suggested to the subcommittee by the County Civil Service Commission.

In a report requested by the Board of Commissioners, the County Board of Auditors estimated that the increases would have cost $96,425 from the proposed effective date of July 1 to the end of this fiscal year, Nov. 30. The full-year cost was estimated at $295,846.

The proposed increase would have included the 26 county commissioners. However, under state law, no raise would be effective until their new term of office starts on Jan. 1, 1973.

In submitting the suggested increases, the Civil Service Commission proposed that the board establish a procedure for periodic review of officials' compensation.

The commission's top administrator, Personnel Director Richard G. Behler, stated in a cover letter that he believed "misunderstanding and misinformation" was responsible for the "adverse publicity" which has resulted from proposals to raise officials' pay in recent years. "I cannot believe that the news media, the public, or anyone else would object to reasonable salary adjustments that would maintain salary parity for county officials in this inflationary economy," his letter stated.

"In the long run this (policy of no raises) can only have an adverse effect on county government through the general erosion in the quality of persons seeking county office."

Tap-ins by contractors permitted under law

The City of Belleville has approved an amendment to its Water and Sewer Ordinance which permits city residents to employ their own qualified contractor to make tap-ins to city water and sewer lines.

The City Council approved the change after residents reported that they could have the tap-ins performed at less expense than the city charges by employing their own contractor.

Prior to the ordinance amendment, the city hired contracting companies to make the tap-ins and then charged the owner of the property 20 per cent of the total cost.

The cost covered the tap-in, inspection and charges for shut-off of valves and meters.

The ordinance now permits residents, who employ their own contractors to make the tap-in, to pay the city an inspection fee of $25 in addition to the installation fee on the meter and shut-off valve.

Only properly licensed underground contractors can be hired to make the tap-in and they must be registered at the Municipal Building before a tap-in permit is issued, Mayor Royce E. Smith reported.

The mayor stated that he and members of the council were concerned over the high cost and made the ordinance change to assist the city taxpayer. "The resident now has a choice," he added.

Two Belleville men named to commission

The Belleville City Council has appointed two Belleville residents to the city's Electrical Commission.

They are Justin Emerson, manager of the Belleville branch of the Detroit Edison

Co., and Eben D. Smith, an electrical contractor.

Emerson resides at 140 Madelon St., and Smith at 155 Madelon St., Belleville. The appointments were recommended by Mayor Royce E. Smith.
